

VA Form 21-0304

INFORMATION OF INTEREST TO THE VETERAN COMMUNITY:

If you served in Vietnam and have children or grandchildren or even more you need to file VA Form 21-0304.

This is a birth defect disability claim which won't go anywhere at this time. It is being used for research.

If or when it is determined that a presumptive or child disability was caused from a parent who served in Vietnam and connected to Agent Orange, your children or their children may be covered under VA disability. There's a big push by the Vietnam Veterans of America and some people in Congress to get this research started ASAP. Make sure you send it to the address on the form not your local VA.
